Hi Le,

Just to let you know we got back last Friday from the Philippines. Our trip was packed with visits to the devastated areas in Iloilo and Cebu. We met with local organizations who will be our partners in our projects with the rehabilitation and livelihood around the areas impacted by typhoon Haiyan. It will take a while for the residents of the typhoon Haiyan to get back to their normal life. Destruction in some places is too much, but the Filipino people are resilient and take everything in stride. Students are back to school though in classrooms without roofs, etc...

We (FtH) adopted an 8 classroom project in one of the high schools in Medellin, Cebu; which we visited and work is still going on. We already pinpointed the area where we will be building a 2 classroom building in Bantayan Island in Cebu. Our local partner will be our ears and hands in the construction of the building. At present, the plans are still in the drawing board, site to be validated; soil to be tested. One classroom will be donated by the TU BI Foundation and the other from proceeds from a concert by the Filon Boys.

I will keep you posted on the any activities that will lead to the construction of the classroom. Will send you pictures with the beneficiaries of the origami soon. When we distributed the swans, we told them the story of why and who made them.

Regards,
Percy

Hi Le,

Here are some of the pictures where we went to in Cebu. This high school was destroyed by the typhoon Haiyan and Feed the Hungry was the only one who responded to their call of help. We found about this through someone from the World Bank who came from Cebu. We have now committed into helping them by adopting the school for the repair of the 8 classrooms instead of just helping them with the roofing.

The parents, teachers and some of the students proudly show their origami of swan from your group.

Will send you more as we get 'organized'!!

Thanks,
Percy

And the Association is conducting seven wells in India to gratitude and memorial spirit HT Thich Tri Tinh.

Through the charitable work, Willow Duy felt the blessings of the Three Jewels come to the pit of Tu Bi Foundation. Especially after arriving in remote areas, see life The people are facing many difficulties, want to help them but I do not know how, because Tu Bi's budget is too limited. This year Quan Yin Festival with theme: "Call on Compassion" to arouse compassion The heart of everyone, every species. The Society has received much Good news about charity programs in remote areas that the Association thinks That is hard to do. To commemorate Thich Minh Tan Buddhist pagodas have contributed to the construction of kitchens and rooms To eat, to be able to provide food for hundreds of ethnic students Minorities in Nguyen Thai Hoc primary school, Buon Me Thuot. September 2013 saw the boys holding a pack of chewing noodles and it was lunch time of The Em. Real leaves general I do look not name

The Association is carrying out the construction of Kindergarten Kindergarten School, Ban Ngo village in Ha Giang province North China border. No association here because the road is too far, dangerous and not There is a driveway to the school site. It is known after being informed Tu Bi Foundation will give By building a preschool school, the administration is mobilizing the population to make way for transportation Building use. They never believed they would get this school. And in 2014, Tu Bi Foundation will build 5 concrete bridges to replace the monkey bridge in Hau Giang, Ca Mau ...

Ladies and gentlemen, above are some charitable Tu Bi are doing, and September 2014 Lieu Duyen and Tinh Tam will present the Tu Bi Foundation to provinces in the North, Central and South. Will Visit and inaugurate the sites built in 2014. The Society will try Go to the remote and secluded places so that everyone will receive your help Benefactor.

Sincerely grateful to you, Grand Master, Uncle Uncle and volunteers in the United States United and Vietnam. The Society can not make charitable programs without these The noble heart contributed to making the program come true. "Morning for more people Joy, help people less suffering. "

Sincerely grateful to the benefactors who have supported us in many aspects from the spirit Material for many years. We wish you and your compatriot and family a year New is always happy, happy and all the sand.
